Re: Licensing Finisar Corporation's U.S. Patent No. 5,404,505

Dear Mr. Moskowitz:

We represent Finisar Corporation in its intellectual property matters. Based on publicly available information, it appears that EchoStar is utilizing various aspects of U.S. Patent No. 5,404,505 (hereinafter "the '505 patent"), assigned to Finisar Corporation. The '505 patent is entitled "System for Scheduling Transmission of Indexed and Requested Database Tiers on Demand at Varying Repetition Rates." We believe EchoStar should have, and would benefit from, a license to the '505 patent. We have enclosed a copy of the '505 patent for your review.

Claims of the '505 patent read on satellite transmission systems that broadcast information at various repetition rates. Our review of EchoStar's satellite broadcast system has demonstrated that EchoStar transmits various Electronic Program Guide (EPG) data at various repetition rates. It is further apparent that EchoStar uses a hierarchical system to determine which signal streams receive higher or lower repetition rates.

We believe EchoStar has been using Finisar's intellectual property for some time. Finisar would simply like to receive a reasonable royalty for its investment in and ownership of the valuable patent rights it has developed. Finisar would prefer to address the issue of EchoStar's use of Finisar's intellectual property rights in a licensing context rather than through more formal means. We look forward to your prompt response.

Sincerely,

Gary Williams

Re: Finisar Corporation's U.S. Patent No. 5,404,505

Dear Mr. Williams,

We are in receipt of your letter dated June 25th, 2004. Your letter broadly contends that EchoStar has been using U.S. Patent No. 5,404,505 without providing a element-specific analysis to support this allegation.

If you would like EchoStar to consider a license under the '505 patent, please provide a detailed element-by-element explanation that describes with specificity how EchoStar's satellite transmission system uses at least one patent claim of Finisar Corporation's intellectual property. We would also appreciate receiving a complete copy of the file history for the '505 patent. This will expedite our review of your contentions. Once we receive this material, we can evaluate whether a license under Finisar's patent would be beneficial for EchoStar.

We look forward to hearing from you.

Re: Licensing Finisar Corporation's U.S. Patent No. 5,404,505

Dear Mr. St. John-Larkin:

In response to your letter of June 30, 2004, we believe that we have already sufficiently identified EchoStar's continuing infringement of Finisar's U.S. Patent No. 5,404,505 (hereinafter "the '505 patent"). It is well known that each of EchoStar's transponders broadcasts limited EchoStar Electronic Program Guide (EPG) data (present/following EPG data) in multiplex fashion along with the audio and video signals for each of the program channels. One of the transponders, the Home transponder, also broadcasts EchoStar full EPG data in addition to program data and present/following EPG data. The EchoStar full EPG data is broadcast by the Home transponder in carousel fashion. The Home transponder sends time segmented, full EPG data for each channel (e.g. HBO, Showtime, etc.) and then proceeds to the next channel. Accordingly, EchoStar's satellite broadcast system transmits various EPG data at various repetition rates, directly infringing at least claims 1 and 16 of the '505 patent.

It is well established law that where a potential infringer has actual notice of another's patent rights, he has an affirmative duty to exercise due care to avoid infringement. Accordingly, EchoStar has an affirmative duty to avoid infringement of Finisar's '505 patent and the burden is on Echostar to conduct its own infringement analysis. Nonetheless, to expedite our negotiation, we are willing to provide a copy of the file history which will be sent via electronic mail concurrently herewith. If you are agreeable to entering into a license with an appropriate royalty, please contact us immediately to arrange a convenient time to discuss specifics concerning the licensing terms.

Sincerely,

Gary Williams

Our Ref.: 060900-0483

Dear Mr. St. John-Larkin:

On June 25, 2004, I wrote to David Moskowitz regarding licensing Finisar Corporation's U.S. Patent No. 5,04,505 (hereinafter "the '505 patent"). On June 30, 2004, you responded by requesting more information on how EchoStar uses Finisar's Intellectual Property. On July 21, 2004, I provided further details of such use, identified exemplary claims that would warrant a license, and again requested a meeting to discuss licensing terms. On October 7, 2004, I again inquired about EchoStar's position on this matter. On October 21, 2004, you responded that your VP of Intellectual Property recently returned from Europe and that you would conclude your infringement analysis within "weeks." However, to date, we have neither received a substantive response on EchoStar's position nor an agreement to meet to discuss this matter. Enclosed for your convenience is all correspondence between us on this matter to date.

Finisar would very much like to open a dialogue with EchoStar on this subject in the near term. I look forward to your early response.

Very truly yours,

Finisar Wins $78.9 Million Patent Infringement Verdict Against DIRECTV

SUNNYVALE, CA, Jun 26, 2006 (MARKET WIRE via COMTEX News Network) -- Finisar Corporation (NASDAQ: FNSR), a technology leader in gigabit fiber optic solutions for high-speed data networks, today reported that it had won $78.9 million in back damages in a verdict against the DIRECTV satellite television company in a patent infringement case. After a two-week trial in federal district court, a Beaumont, Texas, jury rendered a decision last Friday that found DIRECTV and its affiliated companies to be directly, literally and willfully infringing upon Finisar's information transmission patent and awarded the sizable verdict to Finisar.

At issue in the case was Finisar's U.S. Patent No. 5,404,505 (the '505 patent). The methods found within the '505 patent were invented by Finisar's co-founder, Dr. Frank Levinson, who filed a patent application in 1991. The patent addresses unique ways to transmit and broadcast digital information to a wide base of subscribers. The Beaumont jury unanimously upheld the validity of the Levinson '505 patent.

"We think jurors used careful reasoning and sound judgment in coming to their decision," said Finisar lead counsel Larry Laycock of the Salt Lake City, Utah-based law firm of Workman Nydegger. "In reaching a unanimous verdict on all counts, including willful infringement, the jurors sent a strong message regarding the claims in this case," commented Finisar's local trial counsel, Larry Germer of the Germer Gertz firm in Beaumont, Texas.

"We have invested significant time and effort to amass a sizeable patent portfolio, the '505 patent being just one of them," said Jerry Rawls, Finisar's Chairman of the Board and President and CEO. "Intellectual property is an important asset of our Company and we are committed to protecting our intellectual property rights."

"This verdict confirms our long-held belief that the methods found within the '505 patent, developed by my colleague and business partner Frank Levinson, are major contributions to the field of digital information transmission," added Rawls. "I sincerely appreciate the effort and attention that the Beaumont jury gave to our case. As a result of this verdict, Finisar will continue its ongoing '505 patent licensing discussions with other companies operating data distribution networks."
